COLUMBUS KNIGHTS' SUPREME COUNCIL IN BAY CITY

International Convention To Be Held August 2-5 Will Be Largest in History

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 25.—The largest international convention of the Knights of Columbus will be held in San Francisco, beginning August 2 and ending August 5. Thousands of knights and their women folks are already on their way to the coast in special trains from the east and the middle west to roll up the total of approximately 25,000 visitors that the K. of C. international meet will bring to the City by the Golden Gate.

Mayor James Rolph, jr., and his city fathers, have appointed a committee of 100 prominent San Franciscans of all denominations to greet the knights and arrange for their entertainment while in the city.

Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty, of Philadelphia, will head the army of knights on their march westward and sound the keynote of the convention, known as the "America First" convention, because the Knights of Columbus plan to launch a gigantic American history movement, which will call for the expenditure of more than a million dollars in time and labor for the preparation of a new popular history of the United States from original sources.

Other important works that the knights will initiate at this convention are their national fight on the white plague, and the new phase of their educational and hospitalization work for veterans of the world war, the latter to cost approximately $5,000,000.

Delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada, from Newfoundland, Cuba, Alaska, Porto Rico, Panama, Hawaii, the Philippines and Mexico, will represent the 800,000 knights who form the membership of the organization. With them will go scores of alternates.

"The most picturesque activities of the K. of C. have been concerned with Europe for the past three years—ever since America's entry into the war," Supreme Secretary William J. McGinley declares in his prospectus of the convention. "Now our attention is directed solely on our own country, and the K. of C. American history movement is the surest way of focusing and keeping focused the eyes of America on what America means.

"This history movement, we believe, will be the solution of the Americanization problem, for we have found an eagerness of the part of would-be citizens for American history and ignorance on the part of many who are citizens regarding American history. It is our aim to supply both with a propaganda-proof story of the country in which we live."

The convention will lay new plans for the conduct of the K. of C. schools, which have already graduated free more than 150,000 former service men in all kinds of technical courses. The convention will be called upon to ratify the K. of C. plan to maintain scholarships in 20 organized colleges and universities for 500 young veterans of the war.

Old Days on Ohio River

(By International News Service)

BELLAIRE, Ohio, July 25.—"In the old days to have a fine boat minus a special bell was like trying to run a circus without the elephants," said Captain Jeff Frame, wharfmaster at Wheeling, West Virginia, telling about the Ohio River steamboats of a half century ago.

"During the Civil War both armies took most of the good bells off the boats and junked them to obtain the copper content," Captain Frame continued.

"Most of the bells of that time and for years afterward were made in the shop of a molder named Kay, in Louisville, Kentucky, who was an expert at fine toning. He came to the Ohio Valley from Scotland. He charged one dollar a pound. He put into each bell a few ounces of silver.

"After the Civil War all the big Pittsburgh-Cincinnati packets had fine bells.

"In the old days, just prior to the departure of the boats, the captains would toil the bells, thus giving everyone time to get to the river shore before the boat left. River town residents knew the various boats by the different tones of their bells."

VERDUGO WOODLANDS SCENE OF UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT

F. W. Newport Is Host to More Than Two Score Realty Subdividers and Newspapermen—"Bill" Twining Was Master of Ceremonies at Get-Together

Under the blue skies that form a canopy over the most beautiful spot in all Southern California—the Verdugo Woodlands—two score or more realty men came into their own last Saturday evening. Heretofore they have been known as subdividers; henceforth, among themselves at least, they will be known as the uncrowned kings of "the playground of the nation."

The occasion was a dinner in honor of the members of the Associated Subdividers of Southern California. The host was that always modest and popular person, F. W. Newport, of the F. W. Newport company, which is now engaged in persuading tired city folk, beauty-loving visitors and investors to buy home sites in the Woodlands, which is noted for its purple enclosing hills, its many running brooklets, its groves of trees and beautiful homes.

The master of ceremonies was William Twining—just plain "Bill" to all who know him, and who, by his own modest confession helped Chicago, because of his real eshtae activities, to attain the commanding position it now holds among the cities of this glorious nation. An elocutionist of note, a master of repartee and an unctuous retailer of uplifting stories, he proved himself to be a prince of entertainers and a sagacious judge of values when applied to realty.

A dinner in keeping with the surroundings added to the enjoyment of the evening. Liquids, born in the bosom of the always green Verdugo hills, also "helped some." All present voted the Verdugo water supply Glendale's most precious municipal possession, and "Bill" took advantage of the compliment by saying that the Verdugo Woodlands were within the boundaries of the fastest-growing city on earth, which was also, he added, the very best place in which to live, the Woodlands, of course, being the most desirable section. Every person present knew that he referred to Glendale.

But the dinner was not for the purpose of boosting the Woodlands. It was a get-together meeting of the livest bunch of realtors in the country. They are the men who have transformed barley fields into suburbs which have made Los Angeles famous the world over; the men who have taken their money, their energy and their visions of the future, into out-of-the-way places of the Southland and transformed them into beautiful residential districts, busy industrial centers and home site acres. For many years these men, who were sitting at the same festive table, were more than competitors—they were rivals who believed almost anything to be fair in their fight for business. They learned at last that cooperation was the one big thing needed. The result was the organization of the Associated Subdividers of Southern California. The membership comprises 19 of the 21 firms in Los Angeles which are known as subdivisers. They are exceedingly hopeful that the two firms out of the fold will soon make the cooperation and friendly plan unanimous.

As special guests of the host, representatives of the Los Angeles and Glendale press, and Secretary Rhoades of the Glendale chamber of commerce were present. Like the realtors, they voiced their appreciation of the "spread" and their endorsement of the aims of the association. Mr. Newport was in his element. He is noted far and wide as being without an equal as a host and at the conclusion of the festivities and speech-making, the realtors and newspapermen united in giving three rousing cheers in his honor.

The feast began at 7 o'clock. The goodbys were uttered at 10. Three hours of entertainment such as is rarely the privilege of men to enjoy! And it all happened in Verdugo Woodlands, the most favored spot in California for a permanent home or a week-end cabin.

ALMOND GROWERS STILL STRIVING FOR RELIEF

Final Energetic Fight for an Adequate Tariff Law Is Urged by Them

(Special to the Daily Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Confronted by the critical situation of having to harvest the heaviest crop in the history of California almond culture with their plea for adequate tariff protection lost in the House of Representatives, hundreds of California farmers cultivating almond orchards are appealing to the California Almond Growers' Exchange to make a final energetic fight in the Senate to secure the imperative minimum protective duty of five cents on unshelled and fifteen cents on shelled almonds.

Meanwhile, directors and officers of the growers' exchange are busy mapping plans for presenting their case to the Senate Finance Committee, with whom rests the last hope of California almond growers to secure an almond tariff schedule sufficient to guarantee them a share of the American shelled almond market, now completely in control of peasant growers of Southern Europe.

The Fordney tariff bill adopted by the House with the four and twelve cent almond schedule, which California growers claim is inadequate, now goes to the Senate, but will first be considered by the Senate Finance Committee. The members of this committee whose decision is anxiously awaited by 4,000 California almond farmers cultivating 100,000 acres in this state are: Senators Boies Penrose, Pennsylvania; Porter J. McCumber, North Dakota; Reed Smoot, Utah; Robert M. LaFollette, Wisconsin; William P. Dillingham, Vermont; George P. McLean, Connecticut; Charles Curtis, Kansas; James E. Watson, Indiana; William M. Calder, New York; Howard Sutherland, West Virginia; Furnifold M. Simmons, North Carolina; John Sharp Williams, Mississippi; Andrieus A. Jones, New Mexico; Peter G. Gerry, Rhode Island; James A. Reed, Missouri; and David I. Walsh, Massachusetts.

Senators Johnson and Shortridge, in response to many appeals from almond farmers, have promised to do all possible to secure in the Senate the minimum five and fifteen schedule.

MRS. STANLEY BAKER CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Baker was much loved by "her boys," as she called them, by virtue of her position as vocational secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Her motherly way of looking after them when out of a job endeared her to thousands.

Mr. Baker is at present a secretary connected with the Metropolitan branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Los Angeles, doing work in shops and factories in that city, conducting song services and with his saxophone entertaining and getting in touch with the workers.

ADVERTISING MONEY TOPIC AT LUNCHEON

The advertising committee of the chamber of commerce, appointed at the last meeting of the directors of the chamber to confer with City Manager Thomas Watson in regard to raising the city budget appropriation for advertising Glendale, met at a luncheon today to determine upon a course of procedure.

It is believed by the directors of the commerce association that $700, the amount specified on the budget, is insufficient to cover needed municipal advertising during the year. At the same time members of the chamber believe that in expending the association's money for advertising Glendale it is a case of paying for something that is rightly the obligation of the city as a whole.

The advertising committee is composed of Peter L. Ferry, George Bentley and C. D. Lusby.

PRESIDENT OF VENEZUELA OBJECT OF AMAZING PLOT

If Successful the Monroe Doctrine Might Have Been Seriously Menaced—Expose, Made in Berlin, Involves Former Officials of Central American Republic

By FRANK E. MASON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright 1921 By International News Service

BERLIN, July 25.—Amazing disclosures of a revolutionary plot against the government of President Gomez of Venezuela, which might have menaced the Monroe doctrine, is successful, were made here today by a German sea captain, Erich Hirschfeld.

Hirschfeld also declared that negotiations had been opened with Germany to get arms and intimated that similar negotiations had been broached at Rome, Hirschfeld, finding that he was being "double-crossed" financially, revealed the plot to President Gomez and the plans fell through.

Hirschfeld implicated Dr. Xetorga Martinez, former minister of Venezuela; General Alcantara, former minister of interior, and another former Venezuelan who is now a citizen of Holland and a banker. Following the exposure Alcantara was arrested on board a ship that had been purchased to carry arms and ammunition from Europe to South America.

Hirschfeld is a seaman and formerly commanded a ship. He did not explain how he originally became affiliated with the plotters. His story, as told the International News Service follows:

"Martinez and Alcantara commissioned me to but 10,000 rifles, 8,000,000 cartridges, twenty to thirty machine guns, four field pieces of artillery, two airplanes with the necessary bombs and one rapid 1,000 ton steamer for the transportation of troops. They wanted a suitable 'warship' on which at least two six-inch guns and machine guns could be mounted.

"The revolution was scheduled to take place this present summer. Bases were to be established in Porto Rico and at Curace. The ship would go to Amsterdam and secure Dutch papers and then, flying the Dutch flag, would proceed to the Canary Islands to take on board Austrian arms and ammunition bought in Italy.

"The ship was then to go to waters near Curace and take on board soldiers sent from Curace in schooners.

"A fake mutiny was to be staged on board the ship near Curace as an excuse for putting off the Dutch captain and crew. The vessel was then to proceed to Carupand on the northern coast of Venezuelan and hoist the Venezuelan flag.

"The rebel troop were to be landed at Carupano, occupy the banks and buildings. This was to be the sign of the revolt. In the meantime other troops were to have been concentrated on the Colombian border to co-operate.

"Martinez planned to depose president Gomez and assume the presidency himself."

CICOTTE, ON WITNESS STAND, TELLS OF IMMUNITY PROMISE

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 25.—Edward C. (Eddie) Cicotte, former White Sox pitcher, admitted on the witness stand today in the hearing of the 1919 baseball scandal case, that he signed an immunity waiver, made a confession of his guilt and was promised immunity before he was indicted as one of the men who "threw" the 1919 world series.

Cicotte said former Assistant State's Attorney H. L. Replogle promised him immunity, but after he made his confession he was indicted. He said he was taken before Chief Justice McDonald of the criminal court and that the judge said: "Go ahead and indict this fellow; don't let him put across anything."

Cicotte was asked:

"Did you know that Mr. Gleason (Kid Gleason), manager of the White Sox, and "Tip" O'Neill, were intending to recover Redmon's $5500?"

"Yes, sir. I heard Mr. Gleason say that if Redmon had lost $5500 through double-cross, that he and O'Neill were going to East St. Louis for some evidence."

"Did you have information that Redmon wanted his money back?" the prosecutor quizzed.

"I can't put it that way," said Mr. Austrian. "I understand that Redmon, in return for the $5500 that he lost would give this office some valuable information leading to conviction of the gamblers."

"Did he demand $5500 from you?"

"No, sir; he only asked me for a square deal."

Mr. Replogle was then called to the stand.

Replogle said he first saw Cicotte about September 28. He denied being in Austrian's office before the pitcher arrived, and saying: "We've got the goods on you, Cicotte; you'd better come clean."

"When you had Cicotte before the judge," inquired Attorney Short, "did you say, 'this guy is holding something back on the gamblers, you'd better indict him'?"

"Something like that," replied Replogle.

"As you started to lead Cicotte to the grand jury room did he turn to the judge and say, 'Wait a minute—just had a talk with Austrian. He is going to fix things. Don't indict me yet'?"

Replogle replied that he didn't remember.

FRANCIS O. JENNINGS ENDS LIFE WHILE ILL

Francis O. Jennings, of the F. A. Clarke Electric company ended his life this morning at his home, 315 West Los Feliz road, by inhaling gas. He had been very ill for some time and despondency is believed to have been the cause for his desire to die.

REV. S. B. WARNER IS SUMMONED BY DEATH

Rev. Sylvanus Bucklin Warner, a retired minister who has been an active and valued member of the First Methodist church of this city since he came to Glendale about two years ago, passed suddenly and painlessly to the great beyond Sunday night after his return from church services. He complained to his wife of not feeling very well and went to bed. Noticing his irregular respiration she went to his bedside and as she bent over him he expired. He was seventy years old and had been for several years before coming to this coast, pastor of a church at Rocky Ford, Colorado. He was pastor emeritus of Christ Church, Denver, where he occupied the pulpit for many years and was greatly beloved. Before going to Denver he had been a member of the Upper Iowa Conference in which he served for 41 years.

Besides his devoted wife he leaves an equally devoted daughter, Mrs. H. W. Randall, organist of the First Methodist Church, who made her home with her parents.

No announcement of funeral services can be made until word has been received from eastern relatives, but they will probably take place Thursday, with the Jewel City Company in charge.

"GLENDALE'S OWN" BACK IN THEIR HOME TOWN

Boys Acquitted Themselves With Credit, as They Always Do

Browned and dusty, and with the newness worn from their uniforms and equipment that was so evident two weeks ago when they entrained for Yosemite valley, the Glendale company of the California National Guard detrained at the South Glendale station of the Southern Pacific shortly after noon today and marched to the company headquarters at Brand and Broadway, amid the cheers of enthusiastic relatives and friends who turned out to welcome them home.

According to Capt. Thos. D. Watson and Lieut. Normal C. Hayhurst, the Glendale Guards acquitted themselves with distinction in competition with other units at the encampment. From an average rating of general efficiency during the first few days at Yosemite, the local guardsmen, during the second week of the camp, attained an efficiency rating that was second to none. Praise for their work, it appears, became a common thing, from battalion and regimental commanders.

Compared to the soldiers of a few weeks ago, when the greater number of them were the greenest of rookies, the local guardsmen returned transformed into an organization capable of making an efficient showing under any circumstances. The camp did worlds of good for them physically, too, which was evident in the manner they carried themselves under the burden of full field packs in the hike up from the station. The company might have been some well-trained unit transferred from an army cantonment of three years ago to the streets of Glendale, so full of snap and confidence was their bearing.

The encampment at Yosemite this year came in fulfillment of a national plan to give state organizations the best military training possible during a period of two weeks. During this time field exercises, practice marches and combat problems were worked out with a daily apportionment of close order drill. But it was not all work at camp. Ample time was allowed for a variety of pleasures that included trips through the park and social events at Camp Curry. To most of the men the 15 days was well spent as a vacation and as an added compensation they received federal pay for their fun.

Speaking of the encampment, Capt. Watson commented that it was one of the most efficient military camps he has ever attended. "It has done wonders for the men," he said, "and I feel particularly gratified with results, for to me it means that the Glendale Guard has been established on a firm basis. Senior commanders who saw our work were liberal in their praise of the efficiency we had attained in so short a time. I think we have made a name for Glendale in a military way."

Lieut. Normal C. Hayhurst, who is athletic coach at the high school, said that the training had been excellent in a physical way for the men, and added that it would be a great thing if every young man in Glendale could avail himself of the training given at the summer camps.

Hootch Is Plentiful

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Hootch hunting is becoming gradually less difficult. Hunters for fine whiskey, wines and other liquors also are becoming more discriminating.

Plentiful liquor supplies in the large centers are said by prohibition officers to be due to an unprecedented inflow of rare brands from abroad.

Imported liquors of Scotch, Irish, English and French manufacture are pouring into the United States through the poorly-guarded gate ways on the coasts and borders.

Dry-law chiefs, cutting down their already small staff of agents, because of depleted funds allotted for the remainder of the fiscal year by Congress, merely gasp and confess they are powerless to stop the importations.

Bootleg centers, finding it easier to obtain the foreign liquors and in much greater quantities than the old familiar brands of American make, are quoting attractive prices for their wares.

INTRODUCING MR. HUNTER—THE MAGICIAN!

Mr. Hunter, of the GLENDALE PAINT AND PAPER COMPANY, of 119 South Brand boulevard, has a magical varnish that will make the oldest linoleum look just like new!

This varnish is a liquid of the same neutral coloring as water—and hence, it will not discolor the lightest designs nor make the slightest color change! This magic worker is manufactured by the Pratt & Lambert company, and presents an entirely new wearing surface, and so, instead of constantly wearing off the linoleum, by applying this magic Linoleum Varnish your linoleum may indefinitely be kept bright and shiny.

After all, there is nothing that makes a house look so neat and fresh as new, clean-looking floors.

If your kitchen linoleum is commencing to show too clearly its recollections of days long past—stop in at the Glendale Paint and Paper company and get a can of Pratt & Lambert's Linoleum Varnish—and the first thing you know it will, in a measure, have restored its original lustre and brightness. Or, if your linoleum is brand new, then you'll find it a wonder indeed—for by applying Linoleum Varnish at the outset you'll have absolutely no wear on the linoleum—you're only wearing off the varnish, which may be easily re-applied!

Mr. Hunter will gladly tell you how to apply this "wonder varnish" to its best advantage—and, in fact, show you right there just what it will do!

A SECRET OF EVERLASTING YOUTH

PEP IS THE SECRET of everlasting youth! One of the first and most important requisites of "pep," however, is the daily bath! Are you responsible for the lack of vigor and strength in the members of your family because you haven't provided them with ample bathing facilities? A modern bathtub and shower costs as little as any piece of high-grade furniture in the home—and is used much more often! The value of a product should be measured by the service which it gives! There is nothing which adds to a home more than a complete, up-to-date, all-white bathroom outfit. It gives a touch of individuality and superb comfort that cannot be surpassed, regardless of the amount of money you spend in making your home otherwise comfortable. But when installing your bathroom be certain that you are selecting fixtures of lasting quality. Mr. Sheehy, of the GLENDALE PLUMBING COMPANY, 134-136 South Orange street, offers an unusual combination of human skill and the best that the country affords, in his excellent fixtures. And if you have Mr. Sheehy install them for you, too, you'll find that he links with quality, efficiency and durability—and you'll have a bathroom that you may well be proud of, and one that will last you a lifetime! Call Mr. Sheehy at the Glendale Plumbing company and he'll gladly figure on the cost for you!

NOT JUST "A LICK AND A PROMISE"

FOR EXCELLENT SERVICE and long wear, take your boy's shoes to the EUREKA SHOE SHOP at 208½ East Broadway, for there I know they will be half-soled well! MAGIC?—PERHAPS!

YOU'LL LOSE YOUR HEART, too, when you see the marvelous Westinghouse Electric Range that I saw at the JEWEL ELECTRIC COMPANY this morning. It's a wonder! And economical? Why, every particle of heat is utilized! There are three electric burners and two beautiful ovens which operate just by the turning of the switch! And now—I've kept the best until last—on the Westinghouse Automatic there is a unique electric clock which you may set in much the same manner as its well-known ancestor—the alarm clock—but instead of rousing an entire neighborhood, this useful member simply turns the electric switch automatically, and starts cooking the breakfast! By the time its less-well-mannered relative has finally called down upon it the ire of the entire household—lo and behold!—breakfast is waiting—just take it out of the oven and serve it! No, there is no danger of burning, for a temperature may be set—and as soon as that degree is reached, the current is as faithfully switched off and the remainder of the cooking is accomplished by the heat already stored in the oven! Every part of the range may be kept sweet and clean—everything may be instantly removed from the ovens, and the ovens (which, by the way, are rust-proof) may be thoroughly scoured and dried! In their attractive store at 200 East Broadway the Jewel Electric company have on display the three models of the Westinghouse Electric Range from—no, I won't tell you the price, for it's too reasonable—you wouldn't believe me, anyway!

RICE SNOWBALLS

Wash two tea-cups of rice and boil it in one tea-cup of water and one of milk, with a little salt. If the rice is not tender when the milk and water are absorbed, add a little more milk and water. When the rice is tender, flavor with vanilla, form it into balls or mold it into a compact form with little cups. Place these rice-balls around the inside of a deep dish, fill the dish with a rich, soft custard and serve either hot or cold. The custard and balls should be flavored the same.

The Sunday morning and evening sermons will be delivered by the Rev. C. S. Medbury.

GLENDALE TAPELINE RUINED BY SPEEDER

Two young surveyors attached to the city engineer's office, reported this morning that as they were working on North Verdugo road last Friday, a high-powered car, in which were two men, approached at great speed, missed one of them by barely six inches, and ran over their steel tapeline, ruining a hundred feet of it. Then the driver looked back and laughed at them. Luckily, they noted the number of the car, which belongs in Los Angeles, and a warrant for the arrest of the driver has been issued.

San Fernando Valley Fair

The big arena for the San Fernando Valley Fair, to be held on the Lopez ranch, one mile north of San Fernando, September 13-18, is now under construction. It will be 150 feet wide and 300 feet long. Decorations and clusters of lights will add to the beauty of the big oval. The livestock parades will be held in this arena and in the evening it will be given over to the horse show program. An interesting feature of the livestock department will be a contest between all the junior clubs of Southern California and the juniors of Northern California. The Southern Pacific has announced special excursion rates for the six days of the fair.

San Gabriel Pageant

The Pageant of San Gabriel, which will picture the founding of the famous mission of that name, will be held next Sunday. The Pageant will be presented in a picturesque spot near the Mission Playhouse, and on next Saturday San Gabriel will be on dress parade, waiting with open arms the expected influx of visitors.

MRS. TOLL OUTLINES EBELL PROGRAM NEXT YEAR

Mrs. C. H. Toll, of Kenneth Road reports that her son, Hubert Toll, will arrive from Boston the first of August and will join the family in an auto tour of the Columbia River country.

Mrs. Toll will be glad to have the rest and change, as she has had a busy summer thus far. While the Ebell Club, of which she is president, completed its year some time ago, there remained much work to be done in preparation for next year, but on Thursday took place the last committee meeting until the club reopens in the fall. The year book, on which proofs are now being read, will number 125 to 130 pages.

When asked about the keynote of work next year, Mrs. Toll mentioned the fact that the General Federation of Women's Clubs is emphasizing "citizenship" and the Ebell will for that reason specially feature that line of activity and strive to keep its members in close touch with county and city organizations, that they may know with some degree of thoroughness the work that county and city officials are engaged in a practical way on the proposed union depot at the Plaza, on the County Jail and other local matters of importance to the community. Instead of the department luncheons which have been held at irregular intervals there will be regular weekly luncheons on Wednesdays which will be in the nature of open forums at which celebrities along any line can be heard, but the idea of citizenship will be stressed in the effort to make every woman realize her duty as a citizen.

In this connection Mrs. Toll spoke of women jurymen, not less than 150 of the Ebell members having served. The judges, she said, are very anxious to have women realize their obligations toward this form of service and a good many women are likely to be summonded when the next call goes out. Those who have served have gotten a great deal of good out of the experience and have found it very enlightening and educational.

One of the many new features of the coming year will be the publication of a monthly bulletin of sixteen pages which will not only inform members about club activities and programs but will have considerable outside matter. For example, one of the members who is in Paris and who has been a visitor at the American Women's Club there, will be asked to give the bulletin an account of what that club is doing. Another member who has been attending a conference of social workers in Milwaukee will contribute an article about that. Still another member who is living in Washington, D. C., will send from time to time reports and first hand notes with a personal touch. One of the past presidents of the club who is touring Europe has been asked to forward to the bulletin anything of interest in regard to the women of the countries through which she is passing. Superintendent Dorsey of the Los Angeles schools will be a contributor, and the city librarian will also give information in regard to that important institution. A prominent woman who has been curator of one of the club's departments and who will be in Chicago for several months, has been asked to visit the women's clubs there and send notes in regard to club work in the windy city. The curators of the Los Angeles museums and art galleries have also promised to co-operate.

The club has been congratulated on this forward step, which is designed to make members intelligently informed in regard to all these things.

Club work has been well systematized and each member of the board of directors will head some important department and be prepared to look up any information sought by persons who may write the club, and report back to the board that it may take action, following the procedure of chambers of commerce and similar organizations.

A branch of the club work which has continued this summer without cessation is assistance to disabled veterans of the world war, especially in giving them outings. Fifty or more at a time are taken to the beaches, where entertainment is provided.

The special relief department is also continuing its work of making and distributing clothing. Twenty-five to thirty women meet regularly every week to sew and will not entertain any proposition to take a vacation while the need is so urgent.

ATLANTIC CITY BANS ONE-PIECE SEA TOGS

The one piece bathing suit which has a great deal to do with making Southern Pacific beach resorts famous, has been banned by the puritanical officials of Atlantic City, N. J. This action is due to a report made by the chief of police of the Atlantic resorts after he had made a thorough inspection of the abbreviated article of sea clothing as it is worn at Ocean Park and Venice. He showed photographs of our bathing nymphs thus attired to members of Atlantic City's board of health censors and the vote for the ban was unanimous.

MUST MAKE CHOICE BETWEEN LINCOLN AND LENINE

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., July 25. — "The United States is the only country where every man has a reasonable chance to quadruple his income," said the Rev. A. E. Cowley, pastor of Hillcrest Baptist church here, sermonizing on conditions obtaining in the average American home.

"We need a genuine revival of appreciation of the benefits enjoyed by the average American family," continued the Rev. Cowley.

"The average annual income of the working class in this country is four times that of other peoples of the world.

"This is about the only country where the wages of the worker are increasing and the interest of the rich decreasing. Here it is not true that the rich are growing richer and the poor poorer. The commoner now is enjoying benefits once had only by kings and queens, and the best things are being spread to reach all.

"The trouble is not with our country, its institutions or its government, but with the radical crowd that has been gripped with lawlessness. The workers of the United States must choose between Lincoln and Lenine. The issue is plain and unavoidable. Those who halt between Lincoln and Lenine should take their respective countries as samples of their work. The place of the radicals is not here in Lincoln's land, but in Russia, land of Lenine.

"Let us remember that the road to happiness is not by violence, but by industry, thrift, obedience to law and loyalty to the flag."

New Streets in Glendale

New streets are being added in Glendale very rapidly. In the Pacific avenue annexation district, there are four already laid out, the curbings in and all ready for oil and gravel. These are Virginia avenue, Hillcrest avenue, Sunset road and Cumberland road. These are north of Kenneth road and between the C. H. Toll place and Dr. Kate Black's. There is now a Virginia avenue and Virginia place, a Vine street and a Vine avenue.

UNIQUE CONCERT AT M. E. CHURCH NEXT WEDNESDAY

Announcement has been made of a concert to be given at the First Methodist church next Wednesday night by the Whitney boy chorus of 50 voices. This is an organization from Portland, Ore., that has been singing at Grauman's, and has just completed its contract there. The concert will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

These boys, who are fine singers, average about 14 years of age. Francis Du Vall, who carries solo soprano parts and who sings with perfection above high C, is what is generally termed a dramatic soprano. Ed Carey, another artist, is a boy cornetist. His brother, Joe Carey, is a tenor soloist. The chorus includes also a sextette that is very fine.

No charge will be made, but a silver offering will be taken for the benefit of the Daily Vacation Bible school.

WHEN 'JOLLY CORKS' CEASED TO EXIST

High Official of New York B. P. O. E. Corrects Mrs. Clara Foltz

Taking issue with Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz in regard to the selection of the name "Elk" for the organization which was formed by the "Jolly Corks," William Phillip, secretary of Lodge No. 1, B. P. O. E., in New York, says in a letter to the Los Angeles Times:

"Regard for historical accuracy sometimes forces upon those in position to know the truth the role of iconoclast, however disagreeable it may be. Therefore, with reluctance I am compelled to dispute Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz's story which appeared in The Times of the 15th inst. and which tells a version of the selection of the name 'Elk' for the organization which has just ended a most successful convention in your city.

"In her letter, Mrs. Foltz takes issue with J. W. Lyson of Boonton, N. J., whose story of the origin of the B. P. O. E. was published in The Times of the 14th inst. History, however, sustains Mr. Lyson, and as custodian of the records of New York Lodge No. 1, I am privileged to state that his version is essentially correct.

"The name 'Elk' was not selected by Mrs. Charles A. Vivian, under the picturesque circumstances described by Mrs. Foltz, but by a committee appointed by Mrs. Vivian's husband as presiding officer of the 'Jolly Corks.' This committee was composed of George W. Thompson, William Lloyd Bowron, Thomas Grattan Riggs, William Carlton, James W. Glenn and Charles A. Vivian, ex-officio, and was appointed during the first week in February, 1868.

"The real work of the committee was performed by Messrs. Thompson, Bowron and Riggs, who selected the name 'Elk' and unanimously recommended it at a meeting held on February 16, 1868. Mr. Vivian and several others, being of English birth, are said to have favored the name 'Buffalo,' after the Royal and Antideluvian Order of Buffaloes of England. The sentiment for a distinctively American organization prevailed, however, and the title 'Actors' Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks' was adopted by a vote of eight to seven. Shortly afterwards the word 'Actors' was dropped and the name of the order became what it is today.

"The 'Jolly Corks' ceased to exist upon the day the 'Actors' Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks' was born—Feb. 16, 1868. Charles A. Vivian's connection with the order ended on June 14, 1868. While it is not a matter of Elk record, Mrs. Foltz may readily assure herself that both of these dates precede the marriage of Mr. Vivian to the woman who now bears his name.

"The picture of the Elk coming down from his mountain fastness to inspire a name for the organization which has become so great and powerful, is very beautiful, but is fallacious."

ARTHUR G. LINDLEY WRITES OF YOSEMITE

Arthur G. Lindley writes the Daily Press under date of July 21, from Yosemite, as follows: "We have enjoyed reading the Daily Press while in camp and appreciate your mailing it to us. We left home early in the day after the election and did not know the result for several days, until we read it in the Daily Press, which was awaiting us when we arrived here. Of course, many people were disappointed that their particular candidates were not elected, but I can see no occasion for misgivings over the five men who were chosen. They are certainly all competent men who have the interests of the city at heart and I am sure they will give a good account of themselves. Here is wishing them a successful term of office and that Glendale will make even greater strides than ever along all good lines during their time. I am sure they can count on the co-operation of every organization to advance the best interests of our fine little city."

THEATRES

Palace Grand

Allen Holubar's famous First National attraction, "Man-Woman-Marriage," which opened such a successful run yesterday at the Palace Grand Theatre will continue to be shown both today and tomorrow. Comments made by those who saw the picture yesterday, are indicative of the dynamic character of this unusual film starring Dorothy Phillips and Robert Cain who plays the part of Schuyler.

Schuyler is the domineering man who takes marriage lightly and who looks upon only the superficial qualifications of women. Three times married and still groping in the dark for marital happiness. Schuyler becomes a roue and the object of ridicule to right-thinking people.

Cain portrays a character to be feared in the early part of this great production, but the very humanness of the role soon drops into a part to be looked upon with scorn for the character's weakness but admiration for the artist's convincing work.

The proof of the pudding is in your digestion.

MRS. R. P. JODON KEEPS OPEN HOUSE

Mrs. R. P. Jodon, 133 South Kenwood street, has been entertaining the past week a niece and nephew, Irene and Arthur Dayhoff, of Tulare county. They are leaving Wednesday for home and Mrs. Jodon's mother, Mrs. Stem, goes with them and will accompany them on an auto trip to San Francisco, Hayworth and other northern points, where they have friends. After making the rounds, the Dayhoffs will bring Mrs. Stem back to Glendale. Other guests whose arrival Mrs. Jodon is anticipating are her niece, from Santa Maria, Mrs. W. P. Swanson and three children, who will spend a week with her.

F. McG. Kelley Sells Business

One of the oldest and best business concerns in Glendale passed into new hands when R. E. Downing of this city, and T. M. Cox of Paris, Texas, purchased the stock and good will of The Glendale Plant & Floral Company, 118 South Brand Boulevard, of F. McG. Kelley, the principal owner.

Mr. Downing is one of the best known and liked business men in Glendale, having been the local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company for five years. Mr. Cox represented the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company in north Texas and southeast Oklahoma for many years. Mr. Cox will move his family to Glendale about the first of January.

Mr. F. Thott, who has successfully had charge of the Glendale nursery, will continue in this position. He is a man thoroughly experienced in the business and is well liked.

Glendale folks hope that as Mr. Kelley has decided to retire from business to rest up, that he will soon be feeling good again, and will dwell many years in this city where he is so well and favorably known.

Petty Thieves Busy

Four bicycles and one motorcycle reward the activities of thieves in Glendale Saturday night and yesterday. The owners of the bicycles are Kingman Grigg, 540 Fairmont; Robert Stanford, 1147 East Windsor; Francis Keogh, 411 West Garfield, and Mr. Wiebe, 438 Burchett. E. H. Smith, 1415 East Colorado, is the owner of the missing motorcycle.

Mexicans Arrested

Two Mexicans are in jail, charged with the theft of an auto in Burbank. The arrests were made by Patrolman Cole of the Glendale police department. A third Mexican escaped.

MOSQUITOES HELP CITY OF GLENDALE

Coming across the continent to find a mosquito-less location, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harris discovered it in Glendale. They had been living in Florida for three years, Mr. Harris, who is a painter and decorator, working in Jacksonville, Miami and other cities in California's so-called rival state. While the climate of Miami was ideal, the mosquitoes made life almost unbearable, so Mr. and Mrs. Harris decided to strike for California. Arriving in Los Angeles, they met a citizen of Glendale who so extolled the beauties and desirability of his home city that they decided to try it. They established themselves at 718½ South Brand and are more than delighted with their choice of an abiding place.

Mrs. Harris says Florida cannot begin to compare with Glendale for climate, fruit and flowers. Her husband is getting considerable work to do through judicious advertising in the Daily Press and by reason of his ability in his chosen line of work, so they both are more than satisfied with their move.

Mrs. W. H. Ward Summoned

Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Ward, wife of William H. Ward, who has been a resident of Glendale for seventeen years, died at her home at 110 North Belmont street yesterday, aged 56 years. It was a new home which she and her husband had occupied for only six months. Three sisters, all residents of Glendale, mourn her demise—Mrs. Mary Turner, Mrs. Martha Ward and Mrs. Emily Addison, also a brother Edward Garney who lives in Quebec. Funeral services will be held in the Little Church of the Flowers Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. The Revs. Rungle and Cornell will officiate. The Jewel City Undertaking Company will be in charge.

A Big Flag FREE

HONOR THE FLAG

The Glendale Daily Press struck a responsive chord in its offer of a beautiful bunting flag with each yearly subscription paid in advance. All we could procure at that time were speedily taken and many applied for the flags after the supply had been exhausted. To satisfy these demands we have ordered a new supply, and these will be given on the same terms as were the first. The Daily Press is not doing this as a money-making proposition, for the flags are quite costly and the paper is worth every cent asked for it, but we desire to do our bit toward stimulating patriotism and reverence for the flag. We hope to eventually see "Old Glory" displayed in every Glendale home, and we want to do our part toward bringing this about.

Fill out the coupon below and bring it or mail it to the office, accompanied with $5 for a year's advance subscription, and a flag will be laid away for you. If in arrears, pay to date and a year in advance to get the flag.

Thought for Today—It is a whole lot easier to keep your mouth shut today than it is to apologize tomorrow. Did you ever think of that?

THE MERCHANTS' EXPOSITION

The Merchants' Exposition to be held in Glendale from August 27 to September 3 should have the enthusiastic support of every loyal citizen. It will afford merchants and manufacturers of Glendale the opportunity to display their wares in a manner most convincing. It will, at the same time, be of great educational interest to the consumers of the community. Thousands of dollars are expended every month in Los Angeles which should be kept in circulation at home. "Patronize Home Merchants" should be the slogan of every resident, every property owner, every merchant. A visit to the exposition by citizens should emphasize the need, the justice of such a slogan. Los Angeles merchants — wholesalers and jobbers — always will receive the trade of our merchants, and it is no more than just to this community that its retailers should, in turn, be patronized to the limit. In that way prosperity will be aided, both in Los Angeles and Glendale. In arranging for the exposition those in charge should not neglect to extend a cordial invitation to the residents of the many other prosperous towns in the San Fernando valley. They should be told, in no ambiguous terms, that the sole desire is to give them the opportunity to become better acquainted with this communiy and placed in touch with what Glendale has to offer in the way of goods they are now purchasing, because of their business limitations, away from home.

Within six months after his inauguration President Harding will be denounced by the opposition party as a dictator, an autocrat, a boss of the most pronounced description. Material for these attacks can be readily secured by going back to the public and private expressions made by the opponents of Woodrow Wilson during the last two years of his occupancy of the White House.

Should the London conferences fail they will have been worth holding. A full report of the proceedings will make it clear, no doubt, that the real difficulty lies between the northern and southern portions of Ireland, rather than between Ireland and the British government.

Warning is given by conservative physicians against too much credence to the story of success in transplanting eyes. They say that altogether too much attention has been paid to certain experiments in this line, for the chances of permanent success are slight.

GRAVE AND GAY

The church was in urgent need of repair, and Sandy McNab, a very popular member, had been invited to collect subscriptions for the purpose. One day the minister met Sandy walking irresolutely along the road. The good man at once guessed the cause.

"Sandy," he said earnestly. "I'm sorry to see ye in this state."

"Ah, it's for the good of the cause," replied the delinquent happily. 'Ye see, meenister, it's a' through these subscreeptions. I've been doun the glen collectin' fun's, and at every hoose they made me hae a wee drapple."

"Every house? But surely, Sandy, there are some of the kirk members who are teetotalers?"

"Aye, there are; but I wrote tae those."

"I'll have to fire that new hired man," said Mr. Cobbles.

"What's he been doing?" asked Mrs. Cobbles.

"Nothin.' That's just the trouble. I found him settin' under a tree readin' a book when he ought to have been to work."

"Maybe it was a book about farmin,' father."

"No, it wasn't. There ain't no poetry in farmin,' and there ain't no information in poetry that tells how to lift a mortgage."

Steve arrived late at his work nearly every morning and the warehouse manager took his before the superintendent, hoping by this means to cure him.

"This is a serious case," said the manager, with assumed sternness. "What have you to say for yourself, my lad?"

"I'll say nothing about it, sir, if you don't," replied Steve.

"H'm! Have you ever been up before me since you started working here?" asked the manager.

"Dunno, sir," replied Steve. "What time do you usually get up?"

Two powerful colored stevedores, who had had some sort of a falling out, were engaged in unloading a vessel at a St. Louis dock. Uncomplimentary remarks and warnings of intended violence were exchanged whenever the two passed each other with their trucks.

"You jest keep on pesticatin' roun' wid me," declared one of the men, "an you is gwine to be able to settle a mighty big question for de sciumtific folks!"

"What question is dat?" asked the other.

"'Kin de dead speak?'"

Wanted Peaceful Holiday

Thomson came back to the office looking very brown.

He had taken two weeks' vacation directly after a holiday, and so had been able to add several days to his rest period.

To the amazement of his boss, however, he went straight to him and asked for a few extra days off.

"Why, you've only just had your vacation!" ejaculated the amazed employer. "What do you want the extra days for?"

"I want to get married," Thomson answered.

"Why didn't you get married during your vacation?" the boss inquired.

"I didn't want to spoil my vacation," Thomson replied.

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

Some Orange Deserts

Orange and Nut Pie

Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter with one cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of hot boiled rice pressed through a sieve. When well blended add one cupful of boiling water and cook slowly until thickened, stirring constantly. Mix grated rind and juice of one large orange, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and two egg yolks. Add this to the hot mixture and cook for two or three minutes. Remove from the fire and cool slightly. Pour into a baked pie shell, sprinkle with one cupful of orange pulp and one-half cupful of finely chopped nutmeats. Cover with a meringue made from the two egg whites beaten with four tablespoonfuls of sugar. Brown in a slow oven.

Florida Orange Sticks

Cream one-quarter cupful of butter, add three-quarters cupful of sugar and beat until smooth. Then add two egg yolks, one-quarter cupful of orange juice and the grated rind of one-half an orange. Mix and sift three-quarters cupful of flour, one-quarter cupful of cornstarch and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Add to the first mixture, and when well mixed fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Greasee a shallow pan, sprinkle with powdered sugar and one cupful of finely chopped walnut meats. Pour in the cake batter and bake in a moderate oven about twenty-five minutes. Remove from the pan, cut in half crosswise and put together with orange filling. Cover with orange icing and cut in narrow strips for serving.

Orange Custard

Peel and slice four large oranges. Place in a serving dish and sprinkle lightly with sugar. Scald three cupfuls of milk. Mix two egg yolks with one-third cupful of sugar and four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch. Add the hot milk gradually, beating constantly. Cook over hot water, stirring until the mixture thickens. Cook for ten minutes, remove from the fire, cool slightly and pour over the oranges. Beat the whites of two eggs until stiff, add four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and continue beating until smooth. Spread over the custard and brown in a slow oven. Chill before serving.

Grapefruit Cocktail

Peel and separate three grapefruit into sections. Remove tough white skin and cut the pulp in pieces. Chill thoroughly. Arrange the pulp in six sherbet or cocktail glasses, pour one tablespoonful of orange juice over each and sprinkle with a little powdered sugar.

Orange Whip

Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatine in one-half cupful of cold water for five minutes. Add one cupful of sugar, and stir until the sugar and gelatine are dissolved. Add one and three-fourths cupfuls of orange juice and one-quarter cupful of lemon juice. Strain the mixture and cool until beginning to thicken. Beat until foamy, fold in stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and heap lightly in orange shells in sherbet glasses or in a wet mold. Garnish with a piece of orange pulp.

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

"The Husband Hunter," in which Eileen Percy appears, is the film version of F. Scott Fitzgerald's "Myra Meets His Family." It is an exceedingly good piece of work and is admirably screened under the direction of Howard M. Mitchell. Its broad humor is unceasing, clean and absolutely wholesome. It is a picture well worth seeing.

"Too Much Speed" shows close-up views of Mr. Reid and his mechanic in their racing car, as the machine speeds around the course at a hundred miles an hour.

To photograph the close-up scenes in action, it was necessary to strap the camera on to the rear end of another racing car which was capable of making as much speed as the one in which the players sat. Thus were the scenes photographed by C. E. Schoenbaum who risked his life in the operation.

May Allison Still Keeps 'Em Guessing

May Allison certainly is keeping the members of the West Coast cinema colony guessing. One day they are discussing her probable affiliation with United Artists. The next day her name is linked with that of Robertson-Cole and then she is heralded as a possible First National attraction. Perhaps, on the same day, a rumor that she has signed to return to the stage under the management of one of the big New York theatrical magnates gains circulation. To all queries the former Metro star replies: "My plans are indefinite. My main business now is to get a good rest. All business overtures are being pigeonholed for the time being. Yes, I have ambitious plans, but just at the present they are simmering."

In Hollywood it is generally conceded that her pictures are among "the best sellers" everywhere, and that once she has a free rein in the selection of stories that are all of her past triumphs on the screen will be eclipsed. So the one best bet about the fair May is that she soon will head her own producing picture company.

Agnes Ayres, who proved a most charming foil for wallace Reid in "The Love Special, is again seen as leading woman in "Too Much Speed." Miss Ayres is an actress of exceptional ability and has appeared in important roles in some of the season's biggest productions. Theodore Roberts, the famous character actor who has a following all his own, and whose name has a magnetic drawing power plays the father role of Pat MacMurran. Mr. Roberts has been associated with Mr. Reid as the father, in two auto race picture stories and film fans will be pleased to know that Mr. Robert again constitutes the opposition which must be overcome before Wally can win the girl. Other prominent players in the cast are Jack Richardson, Lucien Littlefield, Guy Oliver, Henry Johnson and Jack Herbert.

OF INTEREST TO MUSICIANS

Bryn Mawr College, for the first time in its history, is to have a department of theoretical music, beginning next fall, according to an announcement just made public. The department, which will open in October is to be under the direction of Thomas Whitney Surette, well known as a lecturer and musicologist. There will be both undergraduate and advanced courses in harmony, counterpoint, history and appreciation of music. The Philadelphia orchestra will give concerts at the college, illustrating the works studied.

Nina Koshetz, the Russian soprano, has been engaged to appear with the Chicago opera next season. She will sing among other parts leading roles in Serge Prokofieff's "Love of the Three Oranges," and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "The Snow Maiden," both of which are being given for the first time by the organization.

In Russia Mme. Koshetz has appeared in some thirty operas. This Summer she is at the Zeigler Villa in Waterwitch, N. J., where she is hard at work preparing her roles for the opera next Winter and assembling recital programs of the unusual songs which made her appearance last Winter always in such an interesting nature. Among her appearances next Winter besides outside of her operatic engagement she will be soloist with the Detroit Symphony orchestra, the Cleveland Symphony orchestra, the Boston Symphony orchestra, and the Phildelphia Symphony orchestra in Washington.

Josef Hofmann, the inimitable, besides being a piano virtuoso of the highest distinction, in which position he enjoys world wide fame as well as popularity, is distinquished also by two qualities outside his musicianship, writes "Mesphisto." He is an inventor and mechanic of no mean order. He is also, as few know, a humorist.

It seems that some time ago. Rudolph Ganz, who, you know has recently been made conductor of the St. Louis Orchestra, which, by the bye, has also been made the official orchestra of Kansas City, and who has won a high place in the affections of American music lovers as a pianist, through his tours in the country, is also ambitious to be a composer. So having gotten out some pieces, he sent them with his regards and an invitation for censorship to Josef.

This induced Josef to write to Rudolph that he found considerable merit in his compositions, but he thought they were somewhat discoursive and therefore he advised Rudolph to follow his example, namely, each day to cut something out. Josef said he had been using this method with his own compositions and had finally cut out so much that there was nothing left. He urged Rudolph to follow his worthy example.

BUILT THE FIRST SKYSCRAPER

Whitelaw Reid's Structure That Housed the Tribune Was the Wonder of Its Day.

The skyscraper was undreamed of—until Whitelaw Reid laid the corner stone of the Tribune building in 1874. The Florentine campanile that he then lifted into the air gave his contemporaries what was, for them, a greater sensation than their descendants have received from Manhattan's tallest towers. Voyagers coming up the bay hailed it with astonishment, little imagining the formidable structures it foreshadowed.

The skyline it broke was that of an essentially flat, low-lying city. In Reid's eyes New York was not then precisely beautiful. So we may judge from the instructions he sent to Clarence Cook in 1870, with a request for a series of architectural articles. "What I want," he wrote, "is first a crisp editorial on the prevailing lack of architectural taste in New York, the dreary miles of browstone fronts, the worthlessness of brownstone as a material for building, the mostrosities given us by our wealthiest men."

Then article after article was to be written, discussing the question of architecture in our cities generally, but particularly in New York. The "frightful example" was to be fearlessly pilloried, and suggestions were to be made.—From "The Life of Whitelaw Reid," by Royal Cortissoz.

HONOR CLAIMED FOR BOSTON

First Public School in United States Is Said to Have Been in That City.

It is probable that the beginning of the American public school was in Massachusetts. In 1635 the people of Boston assembled in town meeting, requested Philemon Purmont to become schoolmaster and voted him 30 acres of land in part pay for his services. The school begun by Purmont later became the Boston Latin school and has had continuous existence to the present time. Other settlements followed Boston's example and within the next ten years common schools were established in all the New England settlements. In 1647 the general court of Massachusetts ordered every town having 50 families to appoint a teacher, whose wages were to be paid by the parents of the children he taught or by the inhabitants in general. At the same time townships having 100 families were required to establish a grammar school to fit youth for college. The law establishing these two grades of schools laid the foundation of the public school system in the United States. Three years later a similar law was passed in Connecticut, but Rhode Island made no attempt to form a school system until 1790.

Only Outdoor Inauguration.

The United States, although its capital is in a more rigorous climate than those of many republics, is alone in having an "al fresco" inauguration. The first four Presidents were inaugurated indoors, and beginning with the third President, Jefferson, the inaugurations took place in Washington. Monroe, the first President to be sworn in out of doors, chose the east portico of the capitol because of a dispute as to whether he should be inaugurated in the house of representatives or the senate chamber. After a return to the indoor inauguration by Jackson, the outdoor ceremonies were resumed. Because they seemed to fit in so well with American ideas of democracy, permitting the general public to see the procedure, they have been retained.—National Geographic Society Magazine.

Length of Hair Marked Caste.

For a long time the length of hair was considered a mark of caste in France. Only members of the royal family and princes of the blood could wear their hair long. Polled hair was a sign of obedience and inferiority. To cut the hair of a prince was to deprive him of his right of succession to the throne.

Notwithstanding these facts, Charlemagne liked to wear his hair short. The name of his son, Charles the Bald, indicates the style of coiffure he affected. The Emperor Theophilus was also afflicted with a bare crown and he, to shun the notoriety of it, strongly urged his subjects to cut the hair on their heads, advancing numerous reasons, sanitary and otherwise, for its accomplishment.

Playthings for Baby.

Many playthings can be made for small children from pasteboard.

To make a wagon use a four-cornered box to which pasteboard wheels should be attached by wooden axles, these latter put through the sides of the box close to the bottom. Use common pins or small nails to hold the wheels on the axles. A small box inside the wagon does for a seat. Cut out a horse from pasteboard, stand him in front of the wagon, then cut the dasher down a little way. Put Dobbin's tail into this and if his feet touch level the rig is complete.

A man who walks may be a person of distinction but one who has a cheap automobile is of the rabble.

ADVICE WANTED.

"I'm in a fix with my girl!" said young Dubb, disconsolately.

"Why," replied his sympathetic friend, "what's the matter, my boy? Have a row?"

"No, it isn't that. You see, I've been saying so many nice things to her that she's getting conceited. I can't stop it and I can't keep it up."

"Can't, eh? Why not?"

"Well, you see, if I keep on she'll begin to think she's too good for me, and if I stop she'll think I don't care for her any more."

An Old Favorite.

"How did Mr. Grabcoin enjoy the concert?"

"He didn't know what it was all about at first, but he showed symptoms of life when the prima donna responded to her third encore."

"Yes?"

"She sang 'Annie Laurie.' He recognized that tune as one he used to play on the harmonica."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

In a Bad Fix.

"Maud is in a terrible predicament. That rich old man she has promised to marry has offered to have his life insured in her favor."

"I should say that was extremely considerate of him."

"But you don't understand. If his physical condition is such that any insurance company will accept him as a risk she doesn't want to marry him."

TERM ONLY.

Tho' I'm large,
I'm quite attractive
So the gallant men affirm;
But I wonder
Are they truthful
Or is gallant just a term?

Obstruction.

You'll always find a faction
That is hard to understand,
Who criticises action
When it ought to lend a hand.

An Optimist.

"I'm sorry to see you here," said the friend of a convicted bank embezzler.

"Oh, there isn't much change, after all," said the prisoner, cheerfully.

"No?"

"You see, I had been shut up in a cage and looking through bars for years before I came here. These bars are just a little thicker, and instead of being brass they are steel."

Tact.

"Pa, what is tact?"

"I'll give you an illustration, son."

"Yes, pa."

"Tact is what prevents a gray-haired man with a wrinkled face from reminding a youthful looking woman in a knee-length skirt that they were boy and girl together."

An Unfortunate Mistake.

A Dublin magistrate asked a prisoner to explain why he was found lying in the gutter.

"Shure, yer honor," answered the inebriate, "I just happened to walk be-chune two lamp posts an' laned against the wrong one."

Tastes.

Stella—I'm going to get a Hudson seal.

May—My, but your appetite is developing! I can remember when you were daffy about Columbia river salmon.—Cartoons Magazine.

Prob'ly Thus.

"This feller Daniel, Professor—"

"The Daniel who went into the lion's den?"

"Yeah—him. I just wanted t' ask, was he already married and didn't care, or was he training for it?"

Frenzied Finance.

Crawford—How in the world did you manage to get square with your landlord?

Crabshaw—I got him to take my old car for the rent.

SOMETHING DESIRABLE.

She: If you don't stop being so mean to me I'm going home to mother.

He (quickly): Is that a promise or just a threat?

A Queer Job.

The dentist's job is rather queer;
He pulls, mid many a groan,
The teeth of others to obtain
Employment for his own.

It's concentration, not competition, that's "the title of trade."

FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH.

Mike McGonigal and Jerry McGuffin, nationally unknown, had been buddies in the rock-blasting gang. Owing to a premature explosion, Jerry got blasted with the rock, and Mike, in a quandary, wired for instructions. He was told to ship the remains to the nearest undertaker.

Mike scrupulously gathered up all McGuffin's belongings, even to the broken clay pipe, and sent them to the undertaker with this telegram:

"As per orders of the boss I ship you the remains of Jerry McGuffin. But what will I do with the body?"

A Memory of Youth.

"Your little party last night was splendid," said an intimate friend of Mr. Wadleigh.

"Thany you," replied Mr. Wadleigh. "I don't mind telling you as an old acquaintance that it cost me in the neighborhood of $10,000, and I didn't enjoy myself half as much as I did the first time I ever spent a whole dollar on a girl."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Egotist.

"I understand you have barred Three-Finger Sam from the poker game."

"Yes," answered Cactus Joe, "for his egotism."

"How do you mean, 'egotism'?"

"He got an idea he had some kind of a divine right that prevented anybody from ever holdin' four aces except himself."

IT CAN BE DONE.

"A man should never talk about what he does not understand."

"Well, sometimes he can get away with it, if he's sure his audience doesn't understand it either."

Pleasant Neighbors.

When the Scrapleighs begin
They have quite a bout,
For he never gives in
And she never gives out.

Relative Rank.

"And do you think I would prove a satisfactory mate with whom to sail the sea of life?" he asked softly.

"Oh, so-so," the maiden responded coolly. "You'd do pretty well as a mate, I guess, if you clearly understood who was captain."—Country Gentleman.

One Way of Argument.

Gibson—I must have convinced Partridge.

Benjamin—Why do you think that?

"Why he held opposite views to me at first, but later he readily agreed with me."

"Perhaps you only tired him."

No Blues There.

"Pa, if we were living in the center of the earth, we'd have lots of fun, wouldn't we?"

"Why should we, my son."

"'Cause my geography says everything there loses its gravity."—Boston Transcript.

Her Experience.

"Now, girlie."

"Yes?"

"If you refuse to let a man kiss you he'll think you are worth running after."

"Maybe so. But many of the men

The old-fashioned mother worried until her daughter was "safely married." The modern mother worries whether her daughter is "safely married."

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

REV. LOUIS TINNING ACTS FOR PASTOR

In the absence of the pastor of the Presbyterian church, the assistant pastor, Rev. Louis Tinning preached Sunday morning, using as his text, "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul." (Mark 8:36, 37.)

"These times are times of sifting," said the minister. "People are being tested; and the test is as to producing real character. The one who is not producing real character is not doing worth while. The supreme question with us is: How are our lives affecting those we touch? And can we say we are in growing touch with God? Make it practical: apply such a test to books. There are books without end these days; but there are many whose effects on character are destructive. Reading them is far worse than a waste of time; they soil souls.

"The sifting test can be applied to business. How much of it the world would be better off without. And so many are so busy that much that is of first consequence is crowded out. We need to earnestly see to it that we are putting the emphasis in the right place, and not crowding out the things which are really of chief importance. We need to sift. God meant us to live lives of the greatest usefulness. Not happiness first; but happiness does come with the greatest usefulness, the character that God deems vital. We cannot afford to be occupied with those things that God does not count vital."

REV. C. A. COLE RETURNS TO PULPIT

Refreshed from his vacation spent at Long Beach, Rev. C. A. Cole preached two powerful sermons at the Central Christian church yesterday.

The morning discourse was on "The Lure of the Byways," and was an exhortation to his hearers to keep in the straight and narrow path that leads to everlasting life.

The evening topic was "Jesus In Our Town," heaing the pathetic story of Jesus' return to the little town where his childhood, youth and young manhood had been spent, after performing mighty miracles at Cana, Capernaum and other nearby places, which had spread his fame abroad, and his rejection by his own townspeople after he had read Isaiah's prophecy and applied it to himself.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to, urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which relieves bladder trouble.
